School's out! So why are the girls of Canby Hall still hanging around? Dana, Faith, and Shelley are signed up for a month of summer school. For Dana, that means class with her favorite poet by day and romantic moonlit walks with Bret by night. But Bret has other plans for his summer vacation, and they don't include Dana. The summer blues hit hard.

Shelley has her own problems when her hometown sweetheart meets up with her Greenleaf boyfriend, but she and Faith try to nurse Dana's broken heart. Yet it is Randy who brings a smile to Dana's lips and a new confidence in her walk! Can a boy from the backwoods and a New York City sophisticate find romance?
