

"Why Won't the Landlord Take Visa?": The Princeton Review's Crash Course to Life After Graduation (Career Guides)

Pages:	176
Genre:	Uncategorized
Language:	English
Author:	Tara Bray
ISBN10:	0375761918
Goodreads Rating:	5.00
Published:	April 3rd 2001 by Princeton Review
ISBN13:	9780375761911

"Why Won't the Landlord Take Visa?": The Princeton Review's Crash Course to Life After Graduation \(Career Guides\).pdf

"Why Won't the Landlord Take Visa?": The Princeton Review's Crash Course to Life After Graduation \(Career Guides\).epub

Graduation is supposed to be a blast, but the transition from college to the real world can seem rough and very confusing. How does one manage it? Take a deep breath, relax, and read this book. The Princeton Review walks the reader through this, step by step, and helps make sense of it all--from finding a place to live and a job to entertainment on a budget. Everything new grads need to know is in here, including:

- Exploring career choices and getting the best job
- Finding a place to live--without going crazy
- The skinny on networking, internships, temp agencies, and other ways to get a foot in the door
- Eating inexpensively, without living on ramen and pizza
- Recreation beyond TV and dollar draft nights
- Working out a budget that new grads can really live with and tips for surviving on the cheap
- Alternatives to the 9-to-5 grind, from dot-coms and the arts to working abroad and grad school
- Taking care of opening bank accounts, paying bills, and getting insurance
- The Tao of home furnishing: selecting the essential pieces

Contents Include: I Mental and Emotional Preparation II What You Want III Helter Shelter IV Good Food V The Practical Details of Living on Your Own VI Now That's Entertainment VII On the Cheap VIII Starting Early IX Where do I Find a Job? X How Do I Get the Job? XI I Got the Job--Now What? XII The Life of a Dot-Com XIII A Career in the Arts XIV Putting It Off