Alaana, shaman of the Anataook people, must journey through the spirit lands in search of her daughter's lost soul.

She is accompanied by her deadly tupilaq - a reanimated seal carcass that lives only for revenge. An ancient Sorcerer, accidentally freed from captivity by the Anataook shaman, launches a plan to reshape the world, threatening them all. As this legendary villain's secrets unfold, Alaana's husband is torn between the real world and a horrific shadow land in his own effort to rescue their daughter before time runs out. With Alaana wounded and under attack, and the entire Anataook people in danger, the shaman's husband may be their only hope. This is Book Three in an epic fantasy series with a unique arctic setting. All fans of fantasy will enjoy these five novels.
