New pack, new alpha, new life. Be careful what you wish for... Naomi Varden has just lost everything to the other female shifter in her pack. Her intended mate, her future position as alpha female, and now she's being punished for trying to defend what was hers. So she runs. She ends up in North Carolina and falls in with the Morrell wolf pack. They are more than happy to take in a new female wolf shifter. The Morrell pack is everything she's ever wanted. Wealthy. Powerful. Feared. The upcoming alpha is without a mate, and she knows she would be perfect for him. Everything she's ever wanted is finally within her grasp. Only it's harder than she believed to leave her past behind. The sacrifices she must make threaten to erase who she is. But she's quickly learning a few things: not all packs are the same, friendship is found in the unlikeliest of places, and secrets can be very dark.
