No longer is he Major Alexander Khan of the galactic-arm-ranging Internal Movement Control. Now he is Alexander Khan, criminal. Banished to Prison Planet in 2442 by Earth Central Government—the ECG—he has been teleported naked into a blizzard to die, punishment for Distribution of Contraband Technology, Conspiracy to Destroy Harmony, Failure to Condemn Wrong Views, and Failure to Initiate Positive Statements. —And for the one other crime that would have gotten him sentenced all by itself. Officially a secret, Prison Planet persists in whispers. Earth-like, it has no native intelligent life, but harbors three million transportees, tech-suppression satellites, and a surface that ECG hasn't checked in three hundred years of dropping prisoners there.

Khan's commando training kicks in as he learns to survive on the dangerous but beautiful new planet. But survival is only the beginning. He must find a way back to Earth to avenge his father's death, overturn the ECG, and take down Nathan Fox, the ECG Director who ordered his father's murder. Khan meets the four groups that have developed on Prison Planet, and gets help in attaining his goals from unexpected sources. He frees a fief's slaves from its lords, escapes Maneaters, and transforms the world of the Techs on the journey to his ultimate mission: bringing freedom to his people. The price of failure is the death of those he loves on his new home planet: Earth 2.0.
