Alexandra DeGrenier wakes up in modern day Arlington, Virginia two hundred years after being abducted from her school in early 19th century England. How she came to be so far away in a different century is a mystery that needs solving. It doesn't help that she's also been gifted with an assortment of strange supernatural abilities. She enlists the help of strangers - Gabriel and Hardy - to help figure out the reasons behind her disappearance and why she is of interest to the inhabitants of Mystic Falls. Crucial enough for them to send one of them to kill her. Does she run? Or does she tackle them head on?
