Tipton Clark is a regular, around the way guy that is about to marry his sweetheart Audrey and live happily ever after. His longtime best friends Dante and Benton, along with his church family, are the heart of his existence, always having been there for him and giving him strength. When Tipton decides to have a one night stand with a sultry vixen named Tikka, he begins the ride of his formerly boring life! Unbeknownst to him, Tikka is a scorned woman on the verge of a mental and emotional breakdown. Their mutual physical attraction ends in an erotic sexual excursion with Tikka allowing Tipton to consummate everyone of his lurid sexual fantasies. But when he leaves her high and dry to marry Audrey, Tikkas dreams of 'Happily Ever After' turn into a torrid nightmare, as she ends up scorned once again. Tikka sets out to destroy Tiptons world with absolutely no remorse for demolishing what seemed to be her last hope for happiness after she realizes that he has filled her broken heart with promises that he clearly never planned on keeping. Tipton will end up regretting the day he laid his eyes on her sexually insatiable body, and she will truly prove to be his last temptation.
