The final book of The Districts Nick and Jenna make it to Earl's farm, but sometimes plans are forced to change. Earl asks Nick to leave and he's forced to set out on his own with limited supplies. Wheeler is torn between two worlds and must make a decision that will change the very course of his life. Sutherland begins the long and dangerous journey back to District One with the help of Hodges, one of the men stationed at Ellsworth. Nathan discovers the horrifying truth about Alan, the man he saved. The world is in shambles, but there's still hope to be found.
