~ Can a human capture a heart of a creature of the dark? ~ Presented by the award-winning anthology publisher, Enchanted Anthologies. Capture, book two, brings together five dark, paranormal romance stories just in time for Valentines Day. Embracing Darkness by Zizi Cole Crispin is the king of the shadows. After being alone years, he happens across a light that fascinates him. The catch she's human. Can the light embrace his darkness? Unconditional Lust by Breanna Hayse The massive, hideous merrow leader, Muruch, craves the taste of human flesh. Confined to the ocean, he feeds his horde with sailors from ships pulled into the maw of the Bermuda Triangle. When US Army Captain, Nurys Shaye, puts her life on the line to save him after being captured, his hunger for human flesh is shadowed by the desire for her body and her love. Will she be able to see past his appearance and trust him to break down her walls and teach her to feel? Luck of the Irish by K. L Roth Darcy O'Dell has inherited more than just her Irish heritage. A curse, a Leprechaun and hot as hell Irish man all wait for her in Ireland. Song of the Siren by Amanda Leigh She snuffs sailors out like they're her personal playthings.

Until she sees him. What happens when they come together? Silverwolf Alpha by Jessi McPherson Her green eyes taunted him as he slept. She was under his skin and he wanted nothing more than to be under hers. These
