Packing two guns, Jeff Bellamy comes to Red Rock to help his father's best friend, only to find Dorlen beyond help and a town dying because its freight lines are being ruined. In spite of his toughness, Bellamy dislikes seeing small-timers being pushed around, and he is dissatisfied about the way Dorlen dies. When the crooked marshal drops dead to a well-aimed bullet, Bellamy takes over his job, but soon Red Rock is in danger of dying completely before its new marshal comes to grips with the instigator of all the trouble.
